DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 since the claims can be grouped into separate/distinct inventions:

- I. Claim 18 (and dependents), drawn to an invention that teaches advertisements being sent to a user based on their location.
- II. Claim 49 (and dependents) drawn to an invention that only determines location of a user.
- III. Claim 59, 63 and 81 (and dependents) drawn to an invention that teaches location determination of a first user in relation to a second user.
- IV. Claim 68, 75, 85 and 87 (and dependents) drawn to an invention that teaches advertisements being sent to a user based on previous purchases and their location.
- V. Claim 76 (and dependents) drawn to an invention that teaches advertisements being sent to a user based on their location determination and previously specified user preferences.

While the claims have a common theme with “location determination”, they all have differing uses/applications and thus a large burden is placed on the examiner to find each nuance/variant as described. This requires additional searching and additional art, eg. there is no certainty that a piece of art that teaches user location (eg. as per claim 49) will contemplate sending advertisements, or previous purchases or where another/second user is located, or user interest in receiving advertisements, etc..

Please elect ONE Group from the listing above and cancel all other claims.

These cancelled claims can be made part of other individual filings based on their merits.

Response to Amendment

1. The examiner apologizes for the “quick” abandonment sent after the BPAI. It was unintentional.

2. The examiner notes that claims 68 and 75 do not conform to the USPTO's format for computer readable medium claims (eg. USC 112 second issues). They should explicitly state that there is a computer program embodied/stored on a computer readable medium and that the program performs the steps outlined in the body of the claim. The applicant should correct these claims if they are elected and/or in any subsequent Continuation/Divisional.

3. The examiner notes that claims 68 and 75 may have USC 112 first issues relating to empirical support not being found/contained in the specification to support the computer readable medium claims. The applicant should point out where explicit support is found if these claims are elected.

4. The examiner notes that the title of this application may need to be changed based on what claims are ultimately elected. The current title, “SYSTEM AND METHOD FOR WIRELESS TELECOMMUNICATIONS NETWORK”, is too generic and should include at least the concept of location determination. Thereafter it depends on which group is elected and the title should include further information (eg. advertisements, location of another user, etc).
